

ORGAN EDUCATION ONLINE TRAINING PACKAGE

The NEW SOUTH WALES Government (NSW=State in Australia) has released an online Education package on ORGAN DONATION

The NSW Organ and Tissue Donation Service (OTDS) is committed to promoting and supporting organ and tissue donation in NSW including the provision of education for health care professionals.

The OTDS has developed an e-learning module which provides an overview of Organ & Tissue Donation for health professionals. This 20 minute e-learning module provides information on

- The organisational structure of organ and tissue donation in Australia and NSW
- The identification of a potential organ and tissue donor
- The legal and regulatory framework for supporting organ and tissue donation
- The pathways and processes surrounding organ and tissue donation
- The role of the health professional in the donation process
- Transplantation services and outcomes
- Family support services

This module has a self-registration feature whereby users can access the course via <https://NSWOTDS.futuretrain.biz/FT/register.html>
